From the Dugout

Only the innovators survive. Last month, I had the pleasure of being a sketch artist at a top secret ideation session at the request of Ines Kuhn at Unit One (unitoneatlanta.com). It was a nice change of pace from my usual day and it was exciting to put down people's thoughts on paper. It also gave me hope for the economy. It's good to know that there are still people out there eating cake.... specifically crabcakes and cheesecake on a stick. 'til next time, Keith

Cheers from the Crowd!

"Keith has been a great help in formulating not just our marketing plans with their essential graphics, but also contributing to design improvements in the actual products.

He is helpful in every way & pleasant & fun while accomplishing work on time and under pressure." Dennis Wyman

World Series Trivia: What 1909 player came to bat five times in a single World Series game but was not charged with even one official at bat?

Last month's answer:
Joe McCarthy, Yogi Berra and Alvin Dark
