From the Dugout

Typically, our work slows down this time of year due to vacations and corporations sitting on their budgets until third quarter. Fortunately, we have been blessed in the first month of summer by being busy. I hope the trend continues and is a sign that the economy is improving. Over the past few weeks, I have found a dime and two pennies on my daily walk. To me, this means "looser purse strings." Before that, it had been almost fourteen months since I bent down for any "disposable income."

Til next time, Keith
