From the Dugout

I don't know how columnists do it, week in and week out. "Be positive," my wife says. It's just so-o much easier to tear down than build up. We are in the middle of a home make-over and working with contractors only reminds me of how much I love my job. After a few demolition estimates, we decided to do two of the projects ourselves. It's amazing what a married couple can do with a sledge hammer and loppers! Maybe, in this case, tearing down is actually a positive thing. My advice - if you want to bond, bust something up together. Til next time, Keith
